AUDITION

An original musical motion picture
Written and composed
by John Bankhead

Set in a quaint New England town at the fictional Berkshire Regional Theater, AUDITION is the story of a small group of community actors who brave a heavy winter storm for a chance at starring in a famous, yet strangely mysterious, playwright's next Broadway production. As the director runs late, they await the audition, unknowing they're going through it the entire time.

"AUDITION is a movie musical that pays tribute to small theaters in towns and schools around the nation where actors do it solely for their love of the craft.

Sometimes the acting and singing is great. Sometimes it's over the top. Sometimes it's just plain bad - but always from the heart. The triumphs and flaws of community theater create a wonderful setting to bring shows to life. It's in the name. Together as one, supporting each other. That's what this story is about.

An homage to all who dream that dream. Heartwarming. Quirky. Funny. Thoughtful and inclusive. Ode to great musicals of the past that local theaters, high schools, and colleges use as their staples today."
